

Nan Gallagher

9/15/1943 - 6/16/2010

Nan Gallagher lost her life after a three-month battle with cancer, complicated by a blood infection.

Nan was born in Illinois, moved to California when she was three years old and graduated from Barstow high school at age 16. She fell in love and married Fred Gallagher, who retired as a sportscaster and sports editor at KNX Radio in L.A. After two years in Barstow, Nan and Fred spent three years on the Monterey Peninsula, and then settled in Santa Clarita where they lived for 43 years. She made many wonderful friends. Nan was very proud of her grandchildren and treasured the time spent with them.

Nan is survived by her husband, Fred Gallagher; her sons, Brad (Sherene) and Steve (Bianca); her grandchildren, Blainne, Kallie and Shawn and her mother Alvateen Bateman.

Services will be held on Sunday June 27, 2010 at 1:00pm at Eternal Valley with a celebration of Nan's life to follow at the Scenic Hills Clubhouse.

Nan's family wrote, "Loving wife, mother, grandmother and daughter, we all love you and will miss you so much."

Published in Santa Clarita Valley Signal from June 25 to June 27, 2010